Geck[®] Shelf Showcases

Geck® Showcases

Compatible with all standard shopfitting systems and heavy-duty systems

From 1 January 2025, the new ChemBio-zidDV will introduce a self-service ban for many biocidal products in the retail sector. This significant change requires that when dispensing such products, the persons dispensing them must provide proof of their expertise and conduct a dispensing consultation. Our lockable showcases offer the ideal solution to easily fulfil these new regulations and at the same time present your products safely. By using our showcases, you can ensure that your biocidal products are only accessible to authorised persons. This allows you to present your products in a sales-promoting manner while complying with the new legal requirements.

Good to know!

Every day, goods worth over 13 million euros are stolen. In addition to professional gangs of thieves, the number of thefts committed by regular customers is increasing. It is therefore all the more important to protect your goods from the increasing crime of theft.

Geck® Showcases Compact

Compatible with all standard shopfitting systems and heavy-duty systems

Our compact showcases offer you an ideal way to present your products safely and attractively - and in a minimal space. The side panels can be easily attached to the shelving columns, making them the perfect complement to our larger front display showcases. The compact and space-saving design lends itself easily to integration into existing shelving systems without taking up valuable presentation area. The lockable sliding glass doors protect your products from unauthorized access and ensure compliance with legal regulations. Thanks to the practical plug-in brackets, the display cases can be attached quickly and easily to almost all shelving systems.
